Sturdy and reliable autoflowering strain that is well suited for beginner growers and those looking for stealthy plants to grow outdoors. She thrives in most conditions and thanks to her super fast turnaround time, is an excellent choice for outdoors.

Bud description

Thanks to her Indica influence, her buds are small and dense, with a solid mass. They are hard to squeeze and coated in clusters of trichomes rich in blueberry floral terpenes, consisting of bright green, and magenta hues. When grinding a bud, the room will become filled with a blend of forest fruits, Blueberries, and fresh flowers.

Smoke report

Dreamy and deep bodily effects perfectly suited for evening times and taking it easy, with nothing planned. She is a heavy hitter who will leave you glued to the couch, with a big back of snacks and a movie boxset. Well suited for medical patients and those who enjoy the therapeutic effects of Cannabis.

Plant Appearance

During the early stages of growth she stays low, with short internodal spacing and thick, fingered Indica fan leaves. She will stretch and grow with one main central cola, and an abundance of side branches that will finish close to the same height. In only 9 weeks, Fastberry Auto can yield around 400-500gr/m2 of high-quality purple bud, enjoy the flower show with this lady in your garden as she displays tones of reds, purples, and blues.

Grow Tips

Growing her in at least a 10 liter pot will encourage plants to reach a height of 120cm. Otherwise, she will keep a low profile and not pass the 70cm mark in most cases. She has a high resistance to cold winds and wet climates, making her an excellent candidate for growers who experience shorter summers. Planting this strain closely together in a Sea of Green (Purple in this case) will increase yields per square meter and maximize grow space. Growers living in a sunny climate will have great success planting Fastberry Auto up to 4 times a year.

Flavor

Ripe and tart blueberries with a smoked, creamy funk that is both fruity and floral. A lip-licking, super flavor that will coat the lips with a blueberry glaze. The taste is identical to her smell and only improves the longer she cures.
